LAW IN EARLY DAYS.

Justice in California Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Sonora, Tuolumne county, had a Justice of the Peace in 1850, whose docket ought to be preserved as a monument of our pioneer jurisprudence. At the Centennial it would sweep all the honors, as witness a few entries which we transcribe from the archives of R. C. Barry J. P. and Coroner. These are but samples culled at random from the records of his court; and many persons now living will remember the tribunal and its judge.

No. 101.
Is a crage where one James Knowlton brings suit against Jose for feloniously and surreptitiously taking, stealing and robbing the said James Knowlton late of San Francisco. And Buskin purs or sacks of gold dust of the value of 4000 dollars. After hearing the evidence proffered in the case, I demand of Jose whether he was going to plead guilty or not. Jose answered me thus: "You find out. For which in-out, and abominable contempt of court I fined him 3 ounces, and adjudged him guilty. I sentenced him to restore the good dust to the Court and to receive well laid on 40 lashes on his bare back, and to pay the Costs of the Court."

No. 516.
This is a suit for Mule Stealing in which Jesus Ramirez is indicted for stealing one black mare mule, branded O with a 5 in it from Sheriff Werk George swears the mule in question is his and I believe so to, on hearing the case I found Jesus Ramirez guilty of feloniously and against the law made and provided and the dignity of the people of Sonora steal the afore-said mare mule sentenced him to pay the costs of Court $10 and fined him $100 more as a penalty for his ill doings. Jesus Ramirez not having the money to pay with I ruled that George Werk should pay the costs of court; as well as the fine, and in default of payment that the said one mare mule be sold by the constable John Loney or other officer of the Court to meet the expenses of the Costs of Court, &c. also the payment of the fine aforesaid.

No. 606.
This was a suit between two Gamblers E. Krohe the Gambler who sued Sam Heed, the gambler to recover 3000 dollars won at Cards. After much swar and one another the lawyers H. B. Barber and Leander Quint argued the case which after a long time they got through with I decided that Barber was right whereupon Quint said please your honor I never can get justice in your court putting off his finger and thumb I told him the constable to arrest him and bring him into court before me which he done and I then fined him $25 for contempt of Court.

No. 997.
Civil case No. 997 was for an action to cause restitution of property and for "damages," and that it can be better understood we copy the original summons—viz:
State of California To the Sheriff of County Tuolumne any constable of any said County Greeting.
You are commanded to summon Ma-berry and Street to appear before me at my office on the 8 day of November A. D. 1851 at the hour of 9 o'clock to answer to the complaint in this Court by D. Donaldson made in the charges them with a nuisance by putting a privy on a lot which they have jumped belonging to Plaintiff as a possesser or right he now comes to claim his right as an American citizen by claiming a lot to dispose of them to have a restitution according to law with appropriate damages for the imposition now about to be carried out against him by such high handed and mercenary arraigning on the part of the accused.

Sonora City, November 6 1851
R C Barry, J. P.

Nov. 8.
Parties came into Court—After hearing the facts I adjudged that Ma-berry and Street restore to Donnie the premises, and pay one ounce damages.
Costs of Court $20

"Oh!" exclaims the New York World "for a plainly dressed woman." Did ever a wish more plainly show its own folly? There are thousands of plainly dressed women on the streets every day, but they're not looked at. Stumbling into his room he sat down on the edge of the bed and soliloquized thus: "Feet tight boots, a sore on one hand, a felon on the other, and no boot jack in 'z' house. Sings got to be different. Either I must get married, or else get a boot jack; whishall I do?"

SUNDAY.....OCT. 31, 1875.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

Mayor Otis, of San Francisco, died yesterday after an illness of three days, of acute diphtheria.

Moody and Sankey are doing an attractive business in Brooklyn.

The Tombs prison of New York contains five persons who are under sentence of death.

Dr. Strousberg, a noted railway contractor and financier, has been arrested at St. Petersburg and sent to Moscow. Compromising documents in connection with his failure were found in his possession.

A dispatch from Berlin to the Morning News reports that Arch-Bishop Ledebowski will be expelled from Germany as soon as his term of imprisonment expires.

The Daily News special telegram from Vienna states that it is reported there that the Turks have murdered thirty Christians in Bitola, a forlorn town near the Balkan frontier.

The Journal de Paris (Orientalist) denies that M. Buffet favors the Bonapartists. It announces that at the commencement of the session of the Assembly the Minister will deal at the Bonapartist pretensions as they deserve.

The cases of foot and mouth disease among cattle in England are rapidly diminishing, and many districts are entirely free from the distemper. The worst inconveniences which were felt are now at an end.

It is rumored that the Carlist General Doregala has been shot by order of Don Carlos. W. J. Forbes, editor of the Battle Mountain Courier for Meane, was found dead yesterday morning. His death was caused by heart disease. His remains will be taken to Columbia and interred by the side of his wife.

The San Francisco Ledger says the Palace Hotel covers over ten acres or ground. About eight acres of the land exists only in the imagination of the Ledger man.

In one day the fire in Virginia City depreciated the value of mining stocks $25,000,000. The uncertainty of mining stock wealth is illustrated by this fact so plainly that the most obtuse cannot fail to see and understand it.

The Central Pacific Railroad Company have donated $10,000 to the Virginia City sufferers and they run free trains loaded with supplies for those people. Here is at least one corporation with a soul, and a large sized one at that.

The news of the death of Mayor Otis, of San Francisco, will be received in sorrow by his many friends and acquaintances in this city. His death was caused by acute diphtheria, and was very sudden. He was at his office comparatively well three days ago.

It will make no difference so long as they are in fashion, but girls, those stripped stockings are dangerous. The highest medical authority pronounces the color poisonous. Many cases are cited where sores and eruptions on the limbs have followed the wearing of the zebra hued hose. In one instance the girl was unable to walk for eight months.

The people of San Francisco are liable to panic. They catch it as easy as a boy catches the measles. Yesterday, without cause or provocation, a run on the National Gold Bank and Trust Company was inaugurated, and for a few hours things were lively in that vicinity. At the hour of closing the bank announced that it would resume the work of paying out on Monday if people called for their money.

The iron monitor Comanche has been overhauled at Mare Island and is now about ready to leave the hands of the workmen. The vessel is of no earthly account. She has cost an immense sum of money and has never earned a cent. She will never be worth the powder it would take to blow her out of or under the water. It would have been money in the people's pockets if she had remained at the bottom of the bay.

CONTRA Costa county has made a somewhat successful experiment in tobacco culture. Mr. GERMANIA cultivated a small area and the plant grew so well, and looked so much better than the average California product that he took samples of it to Gilroy and had it cured by the CULP process. The tobacco proved to be of a superior quality and a company was formed with a capital stock of $10,000. Forty acres were planted from which one crop has been taken and another will soon be gathered making two crops in one season. About 1,000 pounds of the Florida tobacco were produced which sold readily for twenty-five cents per pound. Mr. CULP, the inventor of the CULP process and one of the oldest tobacco growers in the State pronounces this tobacco of superior quality and expresses the belief that Contra Costa county will become a successful tobacco growing county.

No people in the world are more disposed to look on the bright side of things than those of California. They seldom yield to despondency, and when they do the feeling has but a momentary existence and soon gives place to a disposition to make the most or the best of untoward circumstances. The failure of a great bank or the burning of a large city falls like a pall on the community, and for a few hours all is dark and gloomy. But soon the rallying power makes itself felt, and in a little time the calamity is forgotten amid the excitement of overcoming its consequences. When San Francisco's great bank closed its doors the people were stunned. It was a heavy blow, rendered all the more heavy because it was unexpected, yet within thirty days those ponderous iron doors turned on their hinges and revealed to skeptical eyes such masses of gold that confidence in the bank and faith in its managers were at once established. All the principal part of a city is laid in ashes and in three days, even before the earth has cooled, the work of rebuilding is resumed. Verily our people are not easily discouraged.

The Cause and the Effect.

If the boy is father to the man and man is no improvement on the boy, about the close of the next decade California will have a large population of the worst and most worthless men that ever disgraced God's footstool. Our towns and cities are plentifully sprinkled with boys who are a disgrace to their parents and an annoyance to the neighborhood in which they live. The piously inclined are horrified at the devilries of these restless youths and the practically minded are studying the problem "what shall we do with our boys?" There are two ways of answering the question. One is to let them alone and the jails and State's Prison will take care of them. The other is to find them employment and keep them at it. Idleness is a prolific manufacturer of bad boys. The boy of California is no worse than the boy of the Eastern States until he is corrupted by idleness and evil communications. Work makes good boys and good boys rarely develop into bad men. In San Francisco not one half of the boys aged from ten to twelve years are kept steadily employed. This is not the fault of the boys or their parents. It is a forced idleness. There is nothing for them to do. The duties performed by boys in the East are, with us, discharged by our cheap laborer chattel the Chinaman. The common laborer complains that he is forced into competition with the Chinaman and that this is so is a lamentable fact, but the greatest evil that the mongrelian troler is forcing upon us is the demoralization of our boys. The Chinaman does the work the boys ought to do and for want of employment the boy degenerates to a hoodlum then sinks to the level of the thief. There may be other causes tending to make bad boys in California but idleness is the prime cause.

Cuba.

The people are beginning to talk about Cuba and information relative to the Island and its people is eagerly sought after. In answer to the questions of a correspondent we condense from the American Encyclopedia the following: Cuba is the largest and most westerly of the West India group of islands. Its Western extremity, Cape San Antonio, is distant one hundred and thirty miles from the coast of Yucatan. The extreme length of the Island is 765 miles. Its width varies from 20 to 134 miles. The area including dependencies is 47,278 square miles. The Island is long, narrow and slightly curved, the convex side being to the North. The entire coast line is about 2,200 miles. The latest trustworthy census was taken in 1862 which gave a total population of 1,359,438 of which about 175,000 are slaves. Havana, the chief city of the Island has a population of 205,000. There are thirteen other cities, twelve towns and 324 population centers called pueblos and caserios. The chief products of Cuba are sugar and tobacco. Cotton is cultivated but not to a great extent. Many cattle are bred but the supply does not equal the demand. The value of products of the Island from sugar cane, tobacco and the honey bee for 1871 was $78,371,897. There are copper mines on the Island and also mines of iron, alum and copper, but they have received little attention. The Island is one of the richest spots on the face of the globe, but the rebellion against the government of Spain which was inaugurated in 1868 and has been maintained up to this time has greatly reduced its annual products and caused the destruction of much private property. If, as now seems probable, the United States interferes and exposes the cause of the patriots, quiet will soon reign throughout the Island.

An Important Decision.

The case of the People vs. Newman elicited so much interest in this country during its pendency before our courts that a publication of its result in the Supreme Court must be an item that will attract considerable attention when the importance of the principles involved and the parties interested are considered. We give the decision in full and as follows: July Term, 1875.—Filed Sept. 16th. PEOPLE vs. NEWMAN. No. 10,125. The defendant was indicted and convicted of the crime of an assault with the intent to commit murder. There was no direct evidence proving that the defendant committed the offense, but there was circumstantial evidence tending to prove the defendant's guilt. At the instance of the prosecution the Court instructed the jury as follows: "If the jury find from the evidence that the circumstances evidence a strong suspicion of guilt, and the defendant might, if he was innocent, explain these circumstances consistent with his own innocence, and yet does not offer such explanation, it is a circumstance which you have a right to consider in connection with others as to whether the defendant is or is not guilty." The instruction is indefensible upon any recognized rule of criminal law.

The defendant is not required to offer any evidence, or to explain any fact or circumstance addressed in evidence until the prosecution has made out a prima facie case against him. He is not required to rebut evidence which merely produces in the minds of the jury a strong suspicion of his guilt, and neglect or refusal to explain the facts or circumstances causing the suspicion cannot be accepted as evidence tending to prove his guilt.

We see nothing in the other instructions which obviates this error.

The third instruction given at the request of the prosecution, contains the following proposition: "A sane man is conclusively presumed to contemplate the natural and probable consequences of his own acts, and therefore the intent to murder is conclusively inferred from the deliberate use of a deadly weapon unless proved to have been done in self defense or accident." This is erroneous, the intent to murder would not be conclusively inferred from the deliberate use of a deadly weapon, where the circumstances under which it was used, were such as would excite the fears of a reasonable man that the person upon whom the deadly weapon was used was about to inflict on him a great bodily injury or to feloniously break and enter his dwelling house. This error does not appear to be cured by the other instructions.

Judgment and order revoked and cause remanded for a new trial. RHODES, J. We concur in the judgment and in the opinion of Mr. Justice Rhodes on the last point discussed by him. CROCKETT, J. McKENNEY, J. NILES, J.

THE FAMED VINEYARD.

OUT AT CUCAMONGO.

A NEW SETTLEMENT.

Out through the splendid farming country of El Monte, thence "over the hills and far away," past the secluded village of Spadra, and on across the plain to the base of the Cucamongo Mountain, a representative of the HERALD wended his way. Emerging from the gorge through which the Southern Pacific Railroad passes out after leaving Spadra, a beautiful circular valley twelve miles wide greets the eye, mountains rearing on every side.

MOUNT CUCAMONGO

To the left lifts its head some 7,500 feet in air. At the base of this mountain, just three miles from the railroad, is the Cucamongo Ranch. Every wine drinker in America has heard of the CUCAMONGO WINE.

For so celebrated has become the product of this vineyard that counterfeiters have been busy, and a large percentage of the bottled California wines pass under that name. Lying at the Southern base of the mountain, on a gently sloping plateau, and removed from the sea-coast some thirty-five miles, the fogs never affect the vines and frost is unknown. The ranch was purchased a year or so ago by MESSRS. DOWNEY, HELLMAN AND DREYFUS.

And they have with their usual energy and enterprise gone to work to improve the buildings and enlarge the plantation. A fine wine cellar, as large perhaps as any in the State, has been constructed, and a grape crusher of great capacity has been put up. So perfectly arranged is the cellar that it is difficult to believe that it holds within it nearly 175,000 gallons of wine. The grape crop this year was not materially impaired by the frost, but the extremely warm weather of the last two weeks has dried the grapes so that the vintage will not exceed 75,000 gallons, against 95,000 last year. The vineyard, formerly embracing 135 acres, has been increased by 50 acres, and it is proposed to still further enlarge it. This slope is as well adapted for TROPICAL FRUITS As any in the State, and it is strange that the original owners never turned their attention to the growing of them. The present proprietors, however, are putting out large plantations, no less than 5,000 orange, lemon and walnut trees having already been planted. The climate of Cucamongo is extremely beneficial to invalids suffering from lung diseases, and the surrounding scenery is so beautiful that the tourist would find a sojourn there very entertaining. A hotel will shortly be constructed in a beautiful location formerly owned by Mr. Sainsevaline, with ample accommodations for visitors.

ABOUT FOUR MILES

North from the vineyard are located the lands of the Cucamongo Homestead Association, consisting of some 500 acres. A flume is now being built to supply the tract with water, and as soon as it is completed, which will be in a month, the purchasers of the lots will take possession, and thus begin the era of a flourishing colony. To the East of the vineyard is a fine tract owned by the Cucamongo Agricultural Association, which is being improved rapidly and planted with fruit trees and vines.

THE BUSINESS AFFAIRS

Of the Cucamongo Wine Company are under the management of one of the proprietors, Mr. Benjamin Dreyfus, and his excellent system is worthy of imitation. The most perfect order and cleanliness prevail, and the grounds are in splendid condition. The work is all let out by contract, and none but Chinamen are employed on the premises. Mr. Dreyfus is enabled to reside at Anaheim, riding over to the vineyard occasionally to see that the contracts are complied with, his presence being only required during the vintage. Altogether there is so much of interest in this famous ranch that visitors to the section should not fail to call there in their wanderings. On another occasion we will relate what we saw on the Chino ranch and about Rincon.

San Francisco News.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 30th.—There was a run on the National Gold Bank and Trust Company this afternoon which began about 3 o'clock. The bank continued paying up to 4 o'clock, their closing hour, and gave out that they would resume business as usual Monday. The run for a time created quite a stir on California street and in consequence stocks were slightly depressed, but no serious results are apprehended.

Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning a gloom was cast over the community by the report of the death of Mayor Otis at his residence, 821 Sutter street. The melancholy event was sudden and unexpected, as deceased was at his office comparatively well three days ago, and was only known to be suffering from an ordinary attack of acute diphtheria and pneumonia. He was a native of Boston, aged 49 years, and came to this city in 1849, and at once engaged in the employ of Macdonald & Co. as clerk, rising steadily to become a member of the firm. He leaves a wife and six children. Mrs. Otis is a daughter of the senior Macdonald.

Upon the announcement of the death of Mayor Otis this morning the flags in the city were all hung at half mast, and public regret will be otherwise manifested at once.

At 11 o'clock last evening a fire broke out in the large two story building near Buckingham & Keel's shoe factory, on Gough street, and used by the Chinese employees of that firm as a boarding house. The building was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

During the week there were 100 deaths in the city—50 males and 40 females.

The Occidental and Oriental steamship Belgie arrived from Hongkong and Yokohama Friday morning.

About noon yesterday a child seven years of age, son of Mrs. Sevin, living near the railroad shops on the Potrero, was struck on the side of the head by a piece of some kind of iron and was killed. The child was taken to the Potrero and his skull fractured. He died last night.

About 12 o'clock last night a citizen excitedly informed officer Green that a man on Kearney street, near Sacramento, was kicking a prostrate and drunken man. The officer went to the spot and discovered a young and powerful hoodlum named Alex. McKenty kicking a sailor named Harris in the face and head. The latter had been beaten so severely that it was necessary to convey him to the city prison in a hack. In the Police Court this morning his face presented a frightful appearance. McKenty's trial comes off Monday morning.

Latest from Virginia City.

VIRGINIA CITY, October 30th.—Time has been called and Virginia City comes up to the scratch smiling, with both eyes blackened, her nose swollen and red with the frost, and battered both above and below the belt. The city, to carry out the prize ring figure, puts up its props and requests Providence to come and do its worst. She is good yet for any amount of punishment, and if Heaven holds off and gives her a fair chance she will very soon get square upon her pins again. In every direction buildings are going up and large gangs of laborers are wheeling bricks from the mine, cleaning and piling them for use. Toppling walls are being pulled down, lumber hauled and everything being done toward rebuilding the city, not a moment of time being lost. In places where the fire still smolders and renders the bricks too hot for handling, one gang of men dashes water over them, while others bear them off. Lumber is scarce, but is hourly becoming more plentiful. The palm for enterprise must be awarded to the saloon men. The Phoenix comparison is weak as applied to them. They have not only risen from their ashes, but rather, like the saloon men, stood amidst the flames, whisky-bottle in hand, and supplied each sufferer with his corral in spite of fire, smoke and burning dust. To their credit be it said that they neither watered the whisky nor raised the price. Virginia City is gratified. Water is very scarce. The butchers almost equaled the bar men. They had up sheds in no time, and by their energy stayed the stomachs of thousands. To-day numerous business houses will have up places and be open for trade. At the end of a week a new town will have been created, not as fine by any means as that which went up in smoke and flame on Tuesday last, but good enough for all practical purposes.

The First and Third Ward school-houses are crowded constantly by persons in need of food and clothing. At the First Ward about 1,500 people were supplied with meat yesterday, and about 500 found sleeping quarters there last night. This morning there was a rush, and the resources of the place were put to a strong test. Provisions ran rather short for a time, but a wagon load or two from headquarters set things right again. At the Third Ward school-house, where the relief committee have their headquarters, yesterday served between 1,000 and 1,500 rations, and a number of people were during the night furnished with beds. During Wednesday the lunch tables were overrun by Chinamen, who fed ravenously and returned to the attack as often as possible, and fell back gorged. The Chinese companies were informed by telegraph of the condition of their countrymen. No response was made, and yesterday the Chinamen were refused access to the tables. In the hope of forcing the committee to do something, the Mongolian breast in San Francisco has not been moved, and the Celestial stomach in Virginia is empty, the Chinamen hereafter will have cooked rations issued to them. It is a circumstance worth mentioning that not a solitary Indian has applied for food at the relief stations. This morning's train brought large quantities of provisions and other necessities. From the citizens of San Francisco were received 15 bales of mattresses and 11 bales of blankets. From Mill Station 19 sacks of potatoes and one sack of cabbage. A large quantity of flour came to hand from San Francisco this morning.

Coinin' Thro' the Rye.

A New York publisher publishes an illustration of "Coinin' Thro' the Rye" and blunders into what we presume is through popular misconception of the idiom, giving the riddle and the meeting and kissing in a field of grain. The lines—

If a lad meets a lassie
Coinin' thro' the rye,
and especially the other couple:
"As the lads smile on me,
When comes I thro' the rye," seem to imply that traversing the rye was an habitual or common thing, but what in the name of the Royal Agricultural Society could be the object in tramping down a crop of grain? The song perhaps suggests a harvest scene where both sexes are the custom in Great Britain, are at work reaping, and where they could come and go through the field indeed, but not through the rye itself, so as to meet and kiss in it. The truth is, the rye in this case is no more grain than Rye Beach is, it being the name of a small, shallow stream near Ayr, in Scotland, which, having neither bridge or ferry, was forded by the people going to and from the market, custom allowing a lad to steal a kiss from any lass of his acquaintance whom he met in mid-stream. Our contemporary will see that this is the true explanation if he will refer to Burns' original ballad, in which the first verse refers to the lass wetting her clothes in the stream.

Jennie is a real purr body;
Jenny's seldom dry;
She dragg'd a h'r peccolite,
Coinin' thro' the rye.

Asiatic Proverbs.
The well-known warning not to look a gift horse in the mouth has its equivalent in Balaige, one of the Indian tongues, "If any one offers you a Buffalo, do not ask if she gives milk," and the Malayali rendering of "a burnt child dreads the fire" is identical with the corresponding French proverb, "a scalded cat fears cold water," while the Hindoo version is very picturesque and characteristic—"He whose father was killed by a bear is afraid of a black stump." The European proverb that "No man is a hero to his valet de chambre," and that "Familiarity breeds contempt," are tersely and picturesquely combined in the Tamil adage, "The temple cat does not fear the idol." The Malay tepeva a boaster who glories over the unfortunate with the pithy remark, "any one can leap a fallen tree; and their proverb, "Running up and down the boat does not bring one sooner to the land," is a keen rebuke to those who chafe and fret under circumstances of forced inaction; while the sacred warning not to cast pearls before swine, is aptly paraphrased by the question: "What is the use of reading the Vedas to a wild buffalo?"

Supposed Charms Against Evil.

Amongst other charms against evil may be named that of our ancestors, who, when eating eggs, were careful to break the shells, lest the witches should use them to their disadvantage. We do the same for a similar reason; it is accounted unlucky to leave them whole. They avoided cutting their nails on Friday, because bad luck would follow; but we have improved upon their practice, and lay down the whole theory as follows:

"Cut your nails on Monday, cut them for new;
Cut them on Tuesday, a new pair of shoes;
Cut them on Wednesday, cut them for health;
Cut them on Thursday, cut them for wealth;
Cut them on Friday, cut them for woe;
Cut them on Saturday, a journey you'll go;
Cut them on Sunday, you'll cut them for evil;
For all the next week you'll be ruled by the devil!"

Most grandmothers will exclaim, "God bless you!" when they hear a child sneeze, and then sum up the philosophy of the subject with the following lines, which used to delight the wrangler in the days of his childhood:

"Sneeze on Monday, you sneeze for danger;
Sneeze on Tuesday, you kiss a stranger;
Sneeze on Wednesday, you sneeze for a letter;
Sneeze on Thursday, for something better;
Sneeze on Friday, you sneeze for sorrow;
Sneeze on Saturday, your sweetheart to-morrow;
Sneeze on Sunday, your safety seek;
The devil will haze you the whole of the week!"

These lines may be taken either as charms or spells to produce the effect predicted, or as omens of warnings of the results to follow. In most parts of Lancashire it is customary for children to repeat the following invocation every evening on going to bed, after saying the Lord's Prayer and the Apostles' Creed:

"Matthew, Mark, Luke and John,
Bless the bed that I lie on;
There are four corners to my bed,
Four corners to my head,
Two at the feet, two at the head,
If any ill thing me betide,
Bless the four corners of my bed,
Matthew, Mark, Luke and John,
Bless the bed that I lie on. Amen."
